INVITATION TO STUDENT SUMMER CAMP EURENSSA 2015

Hi, folks!

Are you interested in the environment and sustainability? Do you like to be outside?

We hereby like to invite you to the 9th EURENSSA student summer camp this August in Germany.

EURENSSA is an one-week open-air meeting for students from all over Europe, studying programmes related to environment & sustainability. The idea of EURENSSA is to learn more about the environment and its related subjects during field trips & workshops, to gain new knowledge during lectures held by experts and to share your experiences. It is a possibility to apply your unique knowledge in a different environment and to compare the aspects of environmental sciences in various countries and research fields. Another important aspect of EURENSSA is to make new international friends with similar interests, and have a lot of fun, of course :-)

EURENSSA 2015 will take place 1. - 8. August in Germany in the beautiful region "Saxon Switzerland". This year's topic is "The blind Men and the Elephant - Interdisciplinary Environmental Research" and the programme is divided into three sessions:

1. Environmental Ethics
2. Ecology vs. Economy
3. Environmental Engineering, Analytics and Modelling

We are looking for highly motivated students with all different kind of backgrounds (e.g. ecology, management, engineering, earth/envIRON. sciences, sustainable development, ...) to explore environmental issues in an interdisciplinary context.

For further information and application, please visit our website www.eurensa2015.de or like us on Facebook.
We hope to see you this summer in Germany!

Lena Schinkel
Project coordinator EURENSSA 2015
